

Day 1: 27th January 2022			Chair: René van Woudenberg
Time	Content	Speaker	Location of speakers
10:00 – 10:30	Introduction, overview, context	René van Woudenberg , Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam	On location
10:30 – 10:45	Coffee break
10:45 – 12:00	Epistemic Progress in Theology: A Survey of the Options	Gijsbert van den Brink , Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam	On location
12:00 – 13:15	Are we studying religion better now?	Kevin Schilbrack , Appalachian State University	On location
13:15 – 14:15	Lunch break
14:15 – 15:30	Weber, Newman, and the Fate of Theology in a Disenchanted Age	Jennifer Frey , University of South Carolina	Online
15:30 – 15:45	Coffee break
15:45 – 16:15 Short paper Sessions	Theological Collaboration: Considering Two Frameworks to Enable Progress	Stephen Waldron, Boston University School of Theology	Online
	Decolonial Thinking: Troubling the Progress in the Production of Western Theological Knowledge	Hadje Sadje, University of Bonn	Online
	Truth, contingency and revelation: some Scotistic considerations on the possibility of progress in theology	Michaël Bauwens, University of Antwerp	On location
16:15 – 16:45 Short paper Sessions	Progress in Theology or Series of Theological Ideas? The Divine Action Debate as a Case Study	Ignacio Alberto Silva, Universidad Austral, Argentina	Online
	Theology and the Hermeneutics of Testimony: Progress in Theological Interpretation?	Adriani Milli, Adventist University of Sao Paulo (UNASP), Brazil	Online
	The Unstoppable Progress of Theology	Jack Johnson, University of St Andrews	On location
16:45 – 17:00	Discussion and closure
Evening	Dinner and social event (if possible)

Day 2: 28th January 2022			Chair: Rik Peels
Time	Content	Speaker	Location of speakers
09:30 – 10:45	The future of Theology – an epistemological vacuum	Katrin Gulden Le Maire , FIIT Institut Ruprecht-Karls- Universität Heidelberg	Online
10:45 – 11:00	Coffee break
11:00 – 12:15	Metatheology	Oliver Crisp , St Mary's College, United Kingdom	Online
12:15 – 13:30	The Manifold Progress in Theology: Philosophical Reflections that Call for Boldness	Rik Peels , Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam	On location
13:30 – 14:15	Lunch break
14:15 – 15:30	Freedom and Foreknowledge: A Case Study in Progress in Theology	Katherin Rogers , University of Delaware	Online
15:30 – 15:45	Coffee break
15:45 – 16:15 Short paper sessions	The Idea of Progress in Theology: Did James Orr Get it Right in 1897?	David Clark, Roehampton University, London	Online
	Theological Experts?	Mark Boespflug, Fort Lewis College	Online
	Fine-tuning the sources of theology	Hans van Eyghen, Tilburg University	On location
16:15-16:45 Short paper sessions	The Divine Meaning of Progress: The Triumphs and Trials of Theology in the Dooyeweerdian Tradition	Zane A Richer, Liberty University	Online
	The Philosophy of Science and the Wissenschaftlichkeit of Christian Theology	David Law, University of Manchester	Online
	The Paradox of Progress: Doing Theology with Both Sides of the Brain	Oskari Juurikkala, Åbo Akademi University, Finland	On location
16:45 – 17:00	Discussion and closure

Day 3: 29th January 2022			Chair: Gijsbert van den Brink
Time	Content	Speaker	Location of speakers
09:30 – 10:45	Theology and Methodological Naturalism	Kevin Schilbrack , Appalachian State University	On location
10:45 – 11:00	Coffee break
11:00 – 12:15	Scientific discoveries in theology?	Benedikt Göcke , Ruhr-University Bochum, Jan G. Michel , University of Düsseldorf	Online
12:15 – 12:45 Short paper sessions	Analytic Theology as a Sufficient Means for Ecumenical Dialogue	Cody Warta, University of St Andrews	Online
	The falsifiability and progress in theological arguments	Javad Darvish, Sharif University of Technology, Iran	Online
	Rethinking imago Dei between Darwin and Artificial Intelligence: A case study of progress in theology	Marius Dorobantu, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam	On location
12:45 – 13:00	Discussion and closure
13:00 – 14:00	Lunch		